Rowley Cultural Council needs volunteers to continue to receive state funding for the town

The mission of the Rowley Cultural Council is to promote excellence, access, education and diversity in the arts, humanities, and interpretive sciences in order to improve the quality of life for all Rowley residents and to contribute to the economic vitality of our community

The Rowley Cultural Council receives funding from the Massachusetts Cultural Council to re-grant funds to individuals and organizations in their own community. The Rowley Cultural Council is made up of volunteers who are appointed by the Board of Selectmen and are responsible for making decisions on how they will award the funds granted to them by the Massachusetts Cultural Council in ways that will serve the local cultural needs.

A willingness to serve the community is all that is needed. Without a minimum of five (5) volunteers the town will not receive their annual allotment from the Massachusetts Cultural Council to disburse to local organizations and individuals to support cultural arts in our town.

Interested individuals are asked to send a letter of interest to the Board of Selectmen. The letter can be sent by U.S. mail at PO Box 275, Rowley, MA 01969, by email at selectmen@townofrowley.org or by fax at 978-948-8202.

The Rowley Cultural Council encourages people with a great passion for the arts and science to please inquire about the positions. The commitment consists of monthly meetings July through January, and one or two meetings in the spring. The time commitment for volunteers is minimal and the community benefit is great. Information about the Rowley Cultural Council Program can be found online at: www.mass-culture.org/Rowley or by contacting RCC Chair Sharon Hydren at 508-954-1299.
